Modern lot management.
Smarter operations.

When quality and compliance are non-negotiable, your Lot Management process needs more than just basic tracking. While Business Central provides item tracking, it falls short when it comes to the flexibility needed for today's complex food supply chains.

That's where the LGS Food steps in: giving you full control over lot attributes, preferences, and precision assignment that empowers both inbound and outbound operations.

Fill the functionality gap in Business Central

Business Central wasn't designed to let you define custom lot attributes or choose advanced lot assignment methods that match your operational needs. Our enhancement delivers that missing flexibility.

With LGS Food, you can tailor lot selection to improve warehouse accuracy, speed up picking and shipping, and enhance traceability from intake to delivery. It's smarter Lot Management, fully embedded within your existing system.
