Power smarter sales with customized order guides

Every second counts when you're processing orders, and accuracy matters just as much as speed. Standard order processes in Business Central often fall short when it comes to handling recurring items, customer-specific preferences, or tailored ordering patterns. That's why we've built a smarter solution.

Turn repetitive orders into seamless workflows

LGS Food's Order Guides enhancement gives your team the tools to create structured, intelligent lists of frequently ordered items based on historical data, customer behavior, and predefined preferences. It all works within your existing Business Central environment.

Our Order Guides fill a critical gap in Business Central by helping teams quickly populate sales orders with the right items, organized the way your business operates. Whether you're serving restaurants, grocery chains, or distributors, this enhancement simplifies order entry, improves consistency, and increases accuracy. The result is faster processing, happier customers, and smoother operations.

Helping you take orders smarter

1 Filtering

With the ability to filter by multiple fields, sales representatives can swiftly create an order guide before taking an order, eliminating the need for extensive scrolling and searching.

2 History

Easily search historical sales for a customer by date range to allow for fast reorders to allow for more time to talk about new products.

3 Item Category

Create an order guide categorized by product to aid quick order entry, especially for similar styles. Subcategories, like fresh vs. frozen protein, enhance efficiency and accuracy.
